HARRISBURG, April 11.—
Pennsylvania's Senate today
voted finally to give the people of the state an opportunity to decide for themselves whether they want Sunday baseball and football. The decision now rests with Gov. Gifford Pinchot.
The Schwartz bill, permitting local referenda, swept over its final legislative hurdle when the Senate adopted the conference report on the measure. The vote was 27 for adoption and 22 against. There was no debate.
The affirmative side gained one vote since the last roll call. Senator
Bell, Fayette, joining the "ayes."
The rest of the roll call was precisely the same as when the upper branch first passed the measure on March 21. On that date the House refused to concur in amendments
and the measure was thrown into a conference committee.

Up To Governor
The vote means that for the first time a Pennsylvania governor will be forced to pass upon legislation
intended to modify the blue laws that were enacted in 1794. Whether Governor Pinchot will sign the bill

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle folks thoroughly enjoyed the summer heat yesterday
but must remember that this is still April and we can yet have wintry weather. A year ago at this time, we had snow and below freezing temperatures for three consecutive days. In fact, the weather did not get very warm until April 20.

The state highway department has erected white guard fencing along
the East Brook-Lakewood road.

What's any more attractive in a city than a well-kept public square?
It's probably the most noticeable spot to strangers, whether it's a beauty place or an eye sore. This summer, just like the last, New Castle expects to keep hers in trim.
Small though it is, it still can be kept attractive.

And speaking of parks reminded Pa New about the curls of smoke
that wafted over New Castle last night. But you likely saw that residents of the city were making good their first opportunity for burning property rubbish accumulating over the winter.

It's election time again for many of the city's clubs and lodges leading. Old officers are rehearsing their swan songs and candidates are going through training—that is, probably to themselves.

You'd imagine the Y. M. C. A. was preparing for another indoor circus
these days, but the fact of the matter is they're getting ready for a membership drive. And it takes plenty of planning. A week today
the drive opens.

This is plenty of time to warn you
to get up early next Sunday morn-

Former Kane Girl Seeking $50,000 For Broken Heart

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Clinton A. James, 33, purchasing agent for a large corporation here and son of a socially prominent and wealthy family of Kane, Pa., was asked to pay Miss Mildred I. Johnson, 30, platinum blonde model, the sum of $50,000 for her broken heart
in a breach of promise suit on file
here today.
Miss Johnson, whose home is near Kane, claimed she was discarded
after a six-year courtship during which she had consented to become James' wife. They met in October, 1927, according to her suit, and three days before Christmas that same year James proposed marriage to her and she accepted. They immediately began making plans for their future. Miss Johnson averred in her suit, although no date had been set for the wedding.
The plaintiff declared that James
did not keep his promise to marry her and has repeatedly refused to do so. As a result, she claims she has been "injured in character and social standing, deeply humiliated
and lost all the benefits that would have accrued to her by reason of the marriage and been otherwise damaged."
During his courtship, Miss Johnson declared, James called her many endearing pet names and did "did all in his power to make her fond of him." Then, in January of this year he suddenly broke off their friendship, failing to call her or make any further engagements, she asserted in the suit.

Big Truck Crashes Into Two Others Stopped At Nar-

Five trucks figured in two ac-

with an approximate damage of $2,000, and two arrests. No persons were injured. One way traffic was operated by Corporal L. J.
Lawton and highway patrolmen between late afternoon and eight p. m.
According to Corporal Lawton, Ira Hoyt, R. D. 6, New Castle, was driving his truck from the direction of Butler toward this city. The truck hit the edge of the one-way bridge,
putting a hole in the gasoline tank.
The car did not enter the carway of the bridge. He tried to "stop up the hole in the tank."
Descending the hill, also from the direction of Butler, came a truck operated by "Jack" Kulkin, 101 West Washington street, New Castle. He

Near Agreement On State Relief Program

Expect Controversy To Be Adjusted At Capital
During Day

Rush Action On Emergency
Relief—May Reach Governor Wednesday

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 11.—
Final steps to clear up the murky waters of unemployment relief were taken today with Republican organization leaders apparently still at odds over the appropriation program to cover
the next six weeks.

Shortly after Gov. Gifford Pinchot
and Senator H. B. Scott, Centre, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, decided upon a $5-000,000 appropriation from the general fund, House leaders insisted the appropriation would be for $10,000,000.

Both sides proposed to amend the $20,000,000 Talbot bill, now lying in Senate committee. They were expected to reach a definite understanding today so the bill can be brought out and passed finally in the upper branch, sent to the House for concurrence and signed by the governor tomorrow.

Conferees Bring Agreement
The governor has agreed to sign
the $5,000,000 bill but has not committed himself on a $10,000,000 measure.
A series of conferences has resulted in agreement on three points.
All concede at least $24,500,000 must

State Witnesses

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 11.—
Striking directly at the alibi of the defense, testimony that the bullet which killed his wife, Mary, could not have been accidentally fired,
was before the jury hearing the murder trial of Cyrus Neff, wealthy Cincinnati merchant, here today.
Web Lentz, a gun salesman testifying for the state, said that the weapon could not have been accidentally discharged when Special Prosecutor A. M. Henderson showed him the position in which the state
alleges the gun was held at the time
it was fired.
Mother On Stand
At yesterday's session Mrs. H. M.
Hennigh, mother of the dead wo-

NEW YORK, April 11.—George Bernard Shaw, the bearded Irish sage who might be called his own best pal and America's severest critic, arrived today for his first visit to New York in all his 76 years of picturesque existence.
Refusing to be awed by a battalion of newspapermen that swarmed aboard the Empress of Britain, Shaw stoutly maintained his reputation for doing just as he pleases and letting the chips fall where they may.

Refuses Interview.
He became the first foreign visitor
in the history of New York journalism to defy the indefatigable ship
news reporters.
He flatly declined to grant them
an interview. Pleas and even threats went unheeded.
Earlier in the day, while the Empress of Britain was steaming into port, the playwright opened up in typical shavian fashion for the benefit of International News Service.
He described himself as a "professional earthquake," predicted that America eventually would take up communism or Fascism "and go further in it than Soviet Russia," and expressed the hope "New York will not have an inferiority complex"
when she sets foot on its shores.

Derides Congress.
Further than his, he branded the American congress as something which "does nothing but talk and prevents other people from talking"
and asserted that instead of standing on his own head "as immortalized
in Max Beerbohm's famous car-

Two Fatally Hurt; Beer Truck Upsets

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 11.— Russell Adams, 32, and a man believed to be his brother, Norman,
both of Norristown, were fatally injured today when their truck upset and caught fire as they descended a steep incline on the Ashley Boulvard, near here.

A cargo of beer estimated to be worth $1300 was destroyed and the huge truck was badly wrecked.
The man believed to be Norman Adams was pinned beneath the overturned vehicle and his body was burned to a crisp. Russell was thrown partly clear of the wreckage
and was injured and burned.

BIARRITZ, April 11.—Three pas-

a parachute.

WAR DAYS RECALLED AS FOREST WORKERS DEPART

Scenes reminiscent of the draft days, but with a gayer note, characterize the departure of young forest workers from their home towns for army posts, where they receive two weeks of semi-military training prior to beginning work for the government. A group of young recruits is shown entraining from Philadelphia for Fort Hoyle, Md., one of the many concentration camps.

State Leaders Wrangle Over Beer Control Bill

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 11.—Still unhated and unrestricted, beer flowed across Pennsylvania bars, counters and restaurant tables today
while legislative and political leaders wrangled over regulatory measures.
The senate last night passed the Sowers-Conner beer control bill with the principal features intact as the bill was passed in the house last week, but the lower branch refused to concur in minor amendments.
This threw the measure into a conference committee.
Many house members, particularly the Democrats, voted for passage of the bill on the promise that the senate would amend it to meet their objections. This was not done. The Democrats favor appointment of a commission to issue licenses but the Sowers-Conner bill still specifies that judges shall have the licensing powers.

Sensors John J. McClure, James J.
Coyne and Herman E. Baumer were named to the conference committee
on the part of the upper branch.
Reps. Clinton A. Sowers, Joseph G.
Steedle and Albert L. O'Connor were appointed to represent the house.
The six legislators will confer and attempt to compromise the differences between the two branches.
They must submit a report and have
it approved by house and senate before the bill can go to the governor.

River Project Measure Before State Senate

HARRISBURG, April 11.—Immediate improvement of the Beaver relief projects is recommended to

The resolution recommends the river at Rochester so that they will

Hitch Hiker Proves Thief

police last night, picked up a hitch hiker, a young man between eighteen and nineteen years of age claiming to be a resident of this city, who was attempting to thumb

home here.
Arriving in the downtown district, the owner got out of the car,
leaving the young man in the machine, as he was to get out at Cas-

where he said he resided. When Mr. Davis returned, he found the young man gone, also his gray raincoat and a black flashlight.

AT SEA, April 11.—The fleet of planes and ships searching for the wreckage of the ill-fated dirigible
Akron today shifted its field of operations slightly to the south.

The fact that all bodies recovered
to date have been those of officers
aboard the dirigible all of whom were in the control car, has led to the belief that the control car may have broken off from the huge envelope of the dirigible. And that the latter, lying somewhere on the ocean floor, is still intact and is holding the bodies of most of the 67 men not yet found.

return here late tonight.

Early today the city and county

From the county went several

TO RESTORE FUNDS FOR TEACHERS COLLEGES

Declare State Teachers Colleges To Be Continued

Two State Hospitals Also To Be Provided For In Appropriations

REPRESENTATIVES BATTLE FOR FUNDS

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 11.—Four state teachers' colleges and two state hospitals which were eliminated from the general appropriations bill will be reinstated.

This was definitely learned today. The reintroductions were scheduled to be made either in the House and the bill then laid over for final passage tomorrow or they will be made in the Senate.

The colleges are California, East Stroudsburg, Clarion, and West Chester. The hospitals are Shamokin and Coaldale. It was understood also that no other colleges will be eliminated.

The general appropriations bill was scheduled in the House as a special order of business on final passage today.

Pressure brought by both representatives and Senators from the districts in which the six institutions are located resulted in an agreement to reinstate them and to provide funds to continue their operation.

Senator Chauncey W. Parkinson, Greene County, said that as far as he is concerned California College will be put back into the bill.

Rep. Chester H. Rhoads, emerging from a conference with Rep. Joseph G. Steedle, chairman of the House appropriations committee, was equally confident with respect to East Stroudsburg.

Senator William H. Clark, Chester, spoke for West Chester teachers college and said he understood that institution was to be restored in the bill. He expressed the belief the bill would be killed if allowed to stand in its present form and admitted there are some provisions which make it unconstitutional.

The wets won the first two innings in Wisconsin and Michigan, but it is to be remembered that there are still 46 innings to play.

Cost 85 Cents To Put Rheumatic Cripple Back To Work Again

Now Joyously Happy

While all his family looked on in astonishment and all his friends were amazed, one man took the pain, swelling and agony from his tortured joints in 48 hours and did it with that famous rheumatic prescription known to pharmacists as Allenru.

This powerful yet safe remedy is wonderful—its action is almost magical where uric acid and other circulating poisons cause agony and pain—the excess uric acid poison starts to leave your body in 24 hours. Just get one 85 cent bottle of Allenru from Eckers' Cut Rate Drug Inc. or any live drugstore—take it as directed and in 48 hours your pains haven't left you get your money back.

It works just as swiftly with Neuritis, Sciatica, Lumbago and Neuralgia do to similar cause.

DIFFERENCES ON BANKING REFORM BILL IN SENATE

reserve banks to divorce their affiliates within five years.

4. Divorce investment banking from commercial banking, by prohibiting national and member banks from engaging in the flotation or underwriting of security issues.

5. Create an open market committee to regulate investment purchases of securities by member banks.

6. Authorize the federal reserve board to regulate the amount of outstanding loans, secured by collateral, to be held by any member bank.

7. Provide for 15-day loans by federal reserve banks to member banks on promissory notes, secured by "bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness or treasury bills," or eligible paper.

8. Provide for 90-day loans on "notes, drafts, bills of exchange or bankers' acceptances," subject to rediscunt in the federal reserve system.

The bill also carried new regulations governing directors of banks. First, the number of directors would be limited to "not less than five nor more than 25." Each director would have to own $2,000 worth of stock in the bank.

employee of Neff, told how he had found Alice Overholzer with her arms around the defendant's neck. She was also an employee in Neff's office, Shaffer said. She was dismissed a short time later.

Defense attorneys hammered at testimony given by Dr. J. M. Ranz who testified that in his opinion the weapon was fired at a distance of between seven to ten feet. Several defense exhibits were shown the doctor which pointed out the effects of shot fired at a distance of one foot, in an effort to discredit his testimony. The doctor failed to change his opinion on the distance, although grilled extensively on that point.

Dr. F. P. Monroe, Mrs. Neff's brother-in-law, told the jury how two years ago, she had asked him where she could leave a name so it would be safe if "anything happened."

Was Suspicious
Doctor Monroe's testimony was admitted when the court overruled a defense objection. The prosecution explained that they would show through subsequent testimony that Mrs. Neff was living in fear.

Robert Richolt, of Holgate, a former millwright, whose name was written by Mrs. Neff, testified later in the day. He told how he had lived at the Neff home for a week while setting up machinery in Neff's flour mill.

While he was on the stand, he told how Mrs. Neff had asked, in her husband's presence, if she had done anything wrong. He said she had not and the husband said he was suspicious when he saw the window blinds down.

SUNDAY SPORTS BILL DECISION UP TO PINCHOT

is purely speculative. The most ardent liberals concede there is not a chance of overriding a possible veto.

The roll call vote shows that State Senator A. S. Batchelor of the Beaver-Lawrence district voted against adoption of the Swartz Sunday Sports bill.

The Schwartz bill now provides that the issue shall be placed before the voters next November. Cities and towns that voted for Sunday baseball and football may have these sports between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. As soon as local government officials adopt the licensing ordinances which the Schwartz bill permits. No other sports games would be permitted, and in cities where the referendum vote is against the modification the sports will be barred.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh would be permitted to charge as high as $50 for a license for each game at which an admission is charged; all other cities $25; boroughs, $5, and townships one dollar. The license money goes to the treasury of the municipality.

In Legislature For Weeks

The Schwartz bill has been batted around since the legislative session started in January. The House passed the bill by an overwhelming majority. The Senate amended and defeated it. Then the measure was reconsidered, amended again and passed by the upper branch. The same day the House refused to concur in the amendments and the bill was thrown into a conference committee of three members from each branch.

They submitted a report which the House adopted several weeks ago and adopted again last night after typographical errors had been discovered. The Senate's adoption of the report today was the final step before sending the bill to the governor. With Senator Rice switching, the affirmative side had one vote to spare. Twenty-six are needed for passage of a bill.

COUNTY TO SEND LARGE QUOTA OF FOREST WORKERS

the state's employment office at the Y. M. C. A. that Dr. Bennett's letter was coming.

"It means to us that we're to receive one-tenth of the relief jobs that have been apportioned Pennsylvania," Dr. Bennett, his face in a smile, declared. "To be able to place 250 men right away means something."

Three things will enter into the recruiting of the men when the Harrisburg letter gives authorities the right-of-way to start hiring, and these were listed by the committee head. They will be in effect throughout.

Gives Key Requirements.
Dr. Bennett said they were these: First, a man to be accepted must be single, between the ages of 18 and 25 years.

Second, a man to be accepted must be from a family now receiving relief from the county, the mayor's relief committee or some other public relief agency.

Third, a man to be accepted first must agree to pay back to his family $20 of the $30 pay he will receive each month from the government. The $30 is paid in addition to the board and room which a recruit will receive.

"No man should apply for a position with the forest workers unless he meets these three requirements," it was emphatically pointed out by Dr. Bennett, after he stated them. Explaining that no local board or man has anything to do with adjusting the announced requirements, that it is a function handled by the state and federal authorities, Dr. Bennett asserted that his job alone is to arrange for the recruiting work.

'Y' May Hire Men.
He was to confer this afternoon with R. L. Meermans, superintendent of the state's employment branch at the Y, which it is believed will handle the employment work. A decision will be made today and The News will carry it when reached.

If the Y office is assigned the recruiting task, the men now listed in the office's files, men who are qualified, will be selected. Within the past year the office has made a wide survey of men now unemployed. After their selection, recruits here would go to Pittsburgh for medical examinations and then, if approved, to Fort Morris for conditioning and two weeks' training in the rudiments of tree planting, disease and insect control.

A large part of the Lawrence county men would likely be assigned to the Allegheny National Forest.

FIVE TRUCKS IN TWO ACCIDENTS AT ROSE POINT

most to a "dead stop," having received a signal from one of the persons who was with Hoyt.

Crashes Into Trucks
Following the Kulkin truck from the direction of Butler came a truck operated by A. J. Bender, 4137 West 24th street, Fairview, Cleveland. He had his truck in high gear. The brakes became warm and would not hold. The truck crashed into the rear of the Kulkin truck.

The crash drove the Hoyt truck upon the one-way bridge. The Hoyt and Kulkin trucks were damaged considerably and the truck operated by Bender was partly demolished. Traffic was tied up. Corporal Lawton and a detail started for the scene immediately.

It was necessary to use another truck to remove the Bender operated truck and a one way traffic route was made within 30 minutes but the accident was followed about eight o'clock by another in which two empty "beer trucks" figured. Both drivers were arrested and fined.

According to the highway patrol, a truck operated by Mike Palumbo, 3736 Washington Park, Cleveland, came down the hill fast but got stopped on the one way bridge. His truck was followed by that of Carl Peristein, 3401 East 147th street, Cleveland.

The Peristein truck is said to have struck the truck operated by Palumbo. The highway patrol took the drivers into custody and made a charge of operating recklessly against them and Squire Minter at Rose Point fined each operator.

SHAW VISITING NEW YORK CITY FOR FIRST TIME

toon) "I actually stand other people on their heads."

But there were none of these shavian quips and cracks for the case-hardened ship news men who boarded the liner shortly after 10 a. m. The picturesque visitor barricaded himself in the ship's dining room, buried his nose and bustling beard in a copy of Upton Sinclair's biography of William Fox and in almost so many words told the New York reporters to go about their business.

Preparing Lecture.

"The New York press," he declared in a note scribbled on a piece of newspaper "copy paper," "may return to its firesides and nurse the baby until tomorrow morning...."

"Today I am in training for the Metropolitan opera house tonight and may be regarded as deaf and dumb for the moment, with regrets and apologies."

The note was a reference to Shaw's scheduled lecture at the Metropolitan opera house tonight. He insisted he would remain aboard the liner until it is time for him to begin to talk, ignoring the sights of New York with the same casual gesture he turned down the pleas of the ship news reporters.

Remains Adamant.
Shaw wrote the note in reply to one composed by the newspaper crowd, which read as follows:

"The New York press feels that unless you see fit to grant a personal interview, there is no story to be written. We feel sure that you do not wish to be represented by a printed hand out, which of course is unacceptable to us."

Shaw had warned previously, however, that he would not consent to interviews on his arrival. "I can't fight Tunney in the morning and Dempsey at night," he said while the Empress of Britain was at sea.

One daring reporter attempted to board the playright in his chosen den. He met with this sharp rejoinder:

"Didn't you get my note? That was eloquent enough."

Sticks To Guns.
Despite his determination to remain deaf and dumb, Shaw proved amiable enough for the photographers. He posed smilingly, and waved to a girl reporter, but that was as far as he would go.

So far as could be ascertained, New York's far-famed sky-line went unnoticed. Shaw remained in his stateroom or in the dining room while the ship passed the Statue of Liberty and nosed up the North river. He had warned that New York wouldn't intimidate him, and he stood by his guns.

ARRESTED ON WARRANT

Dan Hartzell was arrested last night by the city police on a warrant issued by Alderman L. C. Miller. He was turned over to the alderman by the police.

BOY RETURNS HOME
At the police station today it was reported by the family that Frank Sfredo, 810 South Mill street, school boy reported as a runaway from his home, had returned home.

Cheer up: maybe we are on the brink of another of those "eras of unprecedented prosperity" which the political orators used to like to talk about.

NEAR AGREEMENT ON STATE RELIEF BENEFIT

be raised for the biennium starting June 1. A beer tax of $1.24 a barrel is expected to provide $7,500,000 and it is estimated $6,000,000 can be saved by adopting economies recommended by the Sterling finance committee.

With this assurance, Senator Scott last night introduced a bill appropriating $13,000,000 to the state emergency relief board. This amount will be increased as soon as a definite plan of raising the funds is accepted on all sides.

Assembly leaders were to turn to the executive chambers again this afternoon in the hope of effecting complete agreement.

To Provide $10,000,000
Harrisburg, April 11.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot's agreement to sign a bill appropriating $5,000,000 for immediate relief was scorned by the Republican state organization today when it reported to the senate the Talbot bill, amended to provide $10,000,000 for the remaining month and a half of the current biennium.

The appropriation would tap the $14,000,000 recently paid into the general fund by the John T. Dorrance estate.

The amended Talbot bill will come up for final passage tomorrow.

With prospects for immediate concurrence by the house in the changes it may be deposited on the governor's desk the same day.

Governor Pinchot has insisted that an appropriation of that size should not be made until some definite means of returning the money to the general fund is assured.

An attempt to compromise on this was to be made this afternoon.

The Talbot bill, in addition to a $13,000,000 appropriation measure of Senator H. B. Scott, Centre, gives the state a potential relief fund of $100,000,000. The Scotland Talbot appropriations along with a $25,000,000 bond issue would provide $50,000,000 and the reconstruction finance corporation has agreed to match the sum furnished by Pennsylvania for its own state.

Large, Hard, Red Pimples Caused Disfigurement. Cuticura Healed.

"Pimples broke out all over my face, but were worse on my chin. They were hard, large and red, and some of them festered. The pimples itched and burned so that I scratched them and caused eruptions. They caused disfigurement while they lasted."

"I tried all kinds of remedies but none did any good until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them a few times they stopped the itching, and in a short time I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss D. T. Miller, R. 3, Box

SALARY REDUCTIONS AT HARRISBURG

IN THE general appropriation bill, pending before the state legislature, there is a decrease in salaries everywhere in the list of state employees, we are informed, except for state legislators.

This is an unexplainable inconsistency.

Certainly there is no reason why salaries of state legislators are not to be materially reduced. They should be. Service being rendered by the state legislature at the present session would rate an amazing reduction if the matter were put up to a decision by the people of the state.

It is only a few years since the state legislature boosted the salaries of members $500 per year. There is no reason why this sum could not be cut off, with a slice in addition.

It certainly would be interesting to hear the explanation of the appropriation bill framers for providing for no cut in the salaries of state legislators, when healthy cuts were being made for all others in the state's employ.

Why not make it your business to ask them?

YOUR COMPETITOR—THE GOVERNMENT

The report of the special committee of the House of Representatives which has been investigating government competition with private business, is a surprising document.

It shows that government competition extends to the amazing total of 232 different businesses which are legitimately of a private nature. They include the fields of transportation, manufacturing, merchandising, farming, banking, printing, architecture—and even amusements. The government operates cleaning and pressing establishments, sells serums and other medical preparations, makes paints and varnishes, conducts a warehousing business, and so on through a long and amazing list of activities.

In most instances, this government competition can not be met by private concerns. No business has the prime advantage of government—tax freedom. None is able to conceal its deficits through treasury appropriations. Few are large enough to exert the purchasing power of the government. When the government steps into any field of business a certain part of that field is definitely lost.

Every added item of government competition, by reducing the profits of private industry, diminishes the government's source of taxes and adds to the tax of what is left.

So far, government competition with the bulk of business has been on a comparatively small scale. But once such competition starts, its growth is simply a matter of time. The committee's facts are immutable—and they show vividly the need for a thorough reorganizing of government to take it out of the field of business, in the interests of economy, efficiency and opportunity for our citizens.

ALL WEATHER IS GOOD

In the last week we have had the usual assortment of spring weather, warm and cold, clear and rainy, sunny and stormy. This annoys some persons and causes them to growl at the "bad weather." But we have it on the highest authority that there is no such thing as bad weather. Dr. James H. Scarr, meteorologist of the United States Weather Bureau in New York, says: "Really, weather is the perfectly harmonious operation of natural laws. There is no bad weather, but just different kinds of good weather." Most persons reading this will probably say: "That's true, but I never thought of it in that way." Dr. Scarr also humorously warns the public that the weather man does not really make the weather, but only tries to forecast the antics of the elements.

The particular weather authority we have been quoting is somewhat of a philosopher. To him nothing is more futile than worrying about the weather. Take these words to heart: "When it rains, make rain your choice. It is so silly to be disgruntled at clouds. Without them we would be bereft of rivers, lakes, vegetables and, in fact, all life. The weather is unquestionably the greatest physical influence in all the world, and everything we see on earth was brought about by weather." It may be that we put too much aside for sunny days and therefore feel at a loss when it rains. Dr. Scarr says we should learn to expand our likes and in this way make life pleasant. "None of us lives in yesterday—we all look for tomorrow. What difference does it make if June 15, say, is rainy after we have spent months hoping it would be sunny."

In other words, weeks of happy anticipation are worth more than what actually happens on one day. There is one important thing Dr. Scarr fails to mention about the weather, and that is its value from a conversational standpoint. If we were to subtract that from our ordinary talk many of us would seem like mutes.

DEGRADATION OF SHORTCAKE

A rural correspondent voices in a communication a thought which has been in the minds of thousands but until now has not found adequate expression. He gives utterance to a feeling of regret, bitter and poignant, at the passing of old-fashioned strawberry shortcake; for, as he truly states, the food which is now masquerading as that delectable confection is a fraud and delusion unworthy of the name it bears. It is a timely and dignified protest against the degradation of what was once and still should be the nobles offering that can grace the vernal festival board and delight the palate of man.

The false strawberry shortcake is a sponge cake affair and the berries are not numerous. The real thing, as the correspondent says, is made of soda biscuit, baked in bread pans, with plenty of "shortening" to make it light, and not too rich. A layer of the cake should be covered with berries crushed with sugar; on top of that another layer of cake and more berries; layers ad libitum, berries ad infinitum, "and on the top layer as many berries and as much juice as will stick." Compared with this, he says, "lotus eating is a piker's pastime." And those in whom ecstatic memories will be aroused by his description, and whose mouths will water as they read it, no doubt will heartily endorse his opinion.

Three hundred years ago old Izaak Walton, seeking to extol the gentle art of angling, could think of no higher praise of it than to compare it to the strawberry. It ranked among sports, he said, as the strawberry ranks among berries, and quoted with approval the words of Dr. William Butler: "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did."

Honestly, the best policy is to let all's well that ends well enough alone.

A new "preventive of old age" has proved successful. The autopsy disclosed that the inventor, who experimented on himself, will grow no older.

When cards are running against you, you are a mighty disagreeable companion in a game.

Constantly complaining of your luck, deprecating the ability of your opponents because they have better cards, detracts from the social pleasure.

Becoming angry and throwing your cards on the table in a listless, indifferent style, you only disgust your partner and annoy those playing against you.

On an average you probably hold as many honors as anyone else.

This is generally true in games that are fairly played. You often have had hands so strong that your opponents had little chance of winning from you, but you never think of your lucky breaks when a poor one comes in the deal.

When you are playing in social session do you often allude to the fact that you are only for "duplicate" in which you have fair success.

Thus you indicate that your opponents are merely fortunate in the cards they get—not so good otherwise.

As a matter of fact it may be that your opponents are making much more out of their hands than you would gain if you played them.

If you can't be a good loser, you ought never to play cards.

The Elmina, New York reformatory had to hold over paroled prisoners, since their discharge money was paid in checks which could not be cashed. Theatres took I. O. U's. Courts were hampered because fines and fees usually demand cash.

An exception was in the case of a New York bootlegger, convicted and fined $100. He produced a $500 bill, had to wait until $400 in small fines had accumulated.

Acceptance Of World Court Expected Under Roosevelt

Delay Foreseen, After Announcement Of Immediate Effort Because Of Danger Of Detrimental Debate With Vital Matters Pending

While it has been thought probable that President Roosevelt would ask for immediate action on the World Court, on the part of the United States, discussion now turns to the prospect that there will be some delay, because of the need of avoiding a revival of the old debate while domestic matters of importance are before Congress.

"There is more popular interest in setting the economic house in order quickly than there is in the World Court," says the HARTFORD DAILY TIMES, although that paper sees a better prospect for ratification than at any other time. It feels that "the change of political control in the Senate, coupled with the fact that President Roosevelt is known and that international disputes be settled peacefully. It will become the American Nation today to set its face against the tribunal created for that very purpose. Indeed, it is not the Nation which continues to balk, but a small group of obstinate men in the Senate."

"Senator Johnson of California and others," according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "have fought entry of this country into the Court on the ground that it amounted to 'back door' entry into the League itself. It does not. And further, the United States has been a leader for years in the demand that international disputes be settled peacefully. It will become the American Nation today to set its face against the tribunal created for that very purpose. Indeed, it is not the Nation which continues to balk, but a small group of obstinate men in the Senate."

Announcing its favorable attitude toward the Court, the WALL STREET JOURNAL voices regret at "the necessity of again postponing Senate action," declaring that "here is another of the potentially great measures of international accord which have been so long delayed as to lose much of their inherent usefulness, at least for as relief for immediate world ill is concerned." The paper adds: "Our adherence is no more essential now than a year ago or two years ago, while an acrimonious struggle over it in the Senate with issues of greater immediate importance pending would almost certainly have evil results. In a little more than two months our war loan debitors must face the question of annuity payments which they found so troublesome last December. Within that time we must either summon our resources of forbearance or renew and intensify the hostile reaction abroad to a creditor's demand which the debtors would readily regard as unbearable. Here the position of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull is delicate in the extreme. An ill only the war debts but the intense desire of peoples everywhere to begin the relief of their necessities by promoting world trade, and all that we hope may result from the still retreating economic conference, must take precedence in time and in our anxieties over the narrower specific question of our formal membership in the World Court."

"The spectacle is remarkable," declares the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE. "Adherence to the World Court has been daily favored by every Republican and Democratic nominee for the Presidency, by the platforms of both political parties in every campaign, by practically all the great civic organizations of the country, by the great majority of the daily newspapers of the United States, by the vast majority of all American citizens, but the Senate, though ready and willing to vote for the Root protocol, has not brought this closing act to a vote only because of reluctance to face the delay and filibuster sure to be attempted by the little band of obstructionist members."

THE DES MOINES TRIBUNE forecasts the time "when the pressing of the World Court issues to a decision will be ranked as an outstanding achievement of this Administration."

No Decision Yet On Changing Name Of Miller Avenue

New Name Proposed Is "Pulaski Street"—Cost Of Making Change Considered

Miller avenue, a thoroughfare in the South Side district, just off Moravia street, still bore its old name today in spite of a public meeting of property owners called to adjust differences in the friendly controversy that arose when "Pulaski street" was proposed as its new name a short time ago.

The "Pulaski street" suggestion was offered because Polish residents of the district felt it would be a proper recognition of the services the great Polish general, Casimir Pulaski, gave to America during the World War. Some opposed the move, fearing expense would be involved as a result of the change.

Rallying the two sides together, leaders of the proposal group explained that no cost would be entailed by a lawful change in name, which city council would bring about, but not entirely did the Pulaski followers succeed in convincing the opposition that their plans could be carried out "purely gratis". And so, the opposition will investigate the avenue likely will be "Pulaski street" if they determine money won't be necessary.

In the meantime, the other side is marking time.

YOUNG MEN FIND Y CLUBS HELPFUL

City Profits From Active Fraternity And Club Life At Association

Even though positions may be scarce, New Castle's unemployed young men have one outstanding institution—a place where sports and education join hands together—to resort to. That institution is the Young Men's Christian Association.

Two leading character-building young men's clubs function throughout the year along with two or three other young men's groups that participate in the gymnasium work. The first two, the Phalanx and the Uparatasa fraternities, meet weekly during the 12 months, with get-together bringing programs with beneficial messages, open forums, debates, discussions, speakers, good fellowship and brotherhood.

The Phalanx and Uparatasa support nine boys' clubs, chiefly concentrated in the city's foreign district. Phalanx itself is responsible for five underprivileged boys' groups in the Scioto street section while Uparatasa's work is done with four similar groups at the Y building. The Y's four-fold program is followed.

Dinners, hikes, programs, theater trips, and educational talks and trips are given to the boys through the young men.

The young men's clubs function to be of community service, and more organizations, modeled on plans like this, can be promoted largely through your own support of the Y. M. C. A.

Amalfi, Italy, gem of the Bay of Naples

In every corner of the world, both here and overseas, wherever you find joy in life, 'tis always "Luckies Please!"

Two things that everybody wants!

When smart folk gather along the mild and lovely Neapolitan Riviera—how natural it is to see Luckies there...for people the world over want a cigarette that has Character...and Mildness.

Lucky Strike's unique Char-

City Planners Vote To Change Croton Districts

Matthew Gunton, chairman of the city planning commission stated today that following councilmanic hearing of petitions to change from a residential to a secondary business district, two sections in Croton avenue, the commission voted to recommend the change. The recommendation will be sent to council for their decision, probably Friday. The hearings were held Monday. Only a few of approximately 30 property-owners opposed the change. Among them was Rev. Harry Johnson who said the change would depreciate his property.

The sections which petitions asked changed follow:

Section in Croton, bounded on the north by Croton avenue, east by Martin street and south by Croton avenue. It is an irregular plot and is known as the Marshall property.

Section in Croton, bounded on the north by Croton avenue, east by an alley, south by Cleveland avenue and west by Crawford avenue.

Should council adopt the recommendation all of Croton avenue from a point approximately at Crawford avenue to the city line will be a secondary business zone.

Asks City To Take Over Park

Shade Tree Commission And Garden Club Favor Move
By Council

After council on Monday had received from Mrs. Neil Feuchtwanger, Shade Tree commission, urging the acquisition by the city of Cascade Park, Mrs. Walter Eckenrood told council which met at city hall that the Garden club also believed the city or county should acquire the park.

The Shade Tree commission communication was that not only did the commission express the hope

the city would take over the park but that the Garden club also urged it and offered their support and co-operation.

Mrs. Eckenrood said the club believed the park should be acquired as part of the park system. She pronounced it the most beautiful park in this vicinity and would not wish to see it go to an industrial concern or an individual.

She also said that she believed the county had a fund to take care of such matters.

Several other civic bodies have urged acquisition of the park but officially their views have not been presented to council.

Federal Beer Licenses Must Be Applied For

Applications Will Be Taken At New Castle Post Office On Wednesday

HEAVY PENALTY FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY

In addition to various other taxes imposed on the sale of beer, retailers, wholesalers and brewers, must pay a fixed license fee to engage in business, it was revealed today by Marion S. Woods, Internal Revenue Department representative in the local district.

The new law, under which beer is being sold, imposes a license fee of $20 per year for retailer, $50 per year for wholesaler, and $1,000 per year for brewers, based on the fiscal year from July 1 to June 30.

For the balance of the current fiscal year, the license fee for retailers is $5, and for wholesalers, $12.50.

Mr. Woods will be stationed at the Post office tomorrow, Wednesday, for the purpose of accommodating any and all persons who wish to make application for a Federal license. The hours will be from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

A retailer under the law is classified as any person who sells beer in lots of five gallons or less to any one person at any time. Persons selling more than that quantity are classified as wholesalers. Licenses are issued to dealers at a definite place of business. Where there is more than one place of business a license must be produced for each establishment.

Failure to comply with this law will result in the infliction of a heavy penalty by the United States government, Mr. Woods stated today, urging all who are engaged in the beer business to make application for their license during the specified hours tomorrow.

Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have decided that this is unreasonable weather for the World Court.

SITTING BULL'S SKETCHES SOUGHT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON—An autobiography of Chief Sitting Bull, most famous of the American Indians, is being studied at the Smithsonian Institution to throw new light on many of his exploits during the middle of last century.

The great Sioux leader, generally held responsible for the historic "Custer massacre," is believed to have portrayed the events of his life in a series of sketches. These drawings were given to his brother, Jumping Bull, who in turn ordered another Indian painter to make two duplicate copies. Smithsonian has possession of one of these duplicates. No trace of the original has ever been found.

The manuscript comprises 55 pictures, each representing an incident in Sitting Bull's life.

One word of love may make a new world to some life.

Start Stone Shipments From Neshannock Falls To Pymatuning Dam

Shipments of stone from Neshannock Falls to the Pymatuning Dam have started, and the work of getting out 100,000 tons of rip rap stone for the Espsville-Anderson highway is under way. Under the direction of E. C. Waldman, foreman in charge, a crew of 10 men is at work but this number will be enlarged as the weeks go by.

For the present the stone being loaded is the loose stone that was piled near the railroad siding. All that is needed in this is to get it to 24 inches in thickness and load it. A little later it will be necessary to blast the stone from the hillside and more men will be needed for this operation.

Each piece is loaded by crane, and on Monday, two cranes were busy swinging their long booms out, picking up a block of two or three tons in weight and dropping it over to the waiting car. Each car is being loaded with approximately 50 tons of stone.

It is estimated that some sixty men will be employed at the stone location when the work gets fully under way, but the men hired will be selected by Bates and Rodgers, the contractors, for their ability to work with stone.

The postponed meeting of last week of the Koppel school board will be held on Wednesday evening in the school building. Important business is on hand and will be taken up.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Wetzel and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wetzel and daughter Shirley Ann motored to Valencia, Pa., on Sunday and spent the day at the home of relatives there.

A jig-saw puzzle was made by Rev. and Mrs. Sherman L. Burson, Third avenue, for Dr. William Shields, Ellwood City, a former resident and physician of Koppel. It is something new in puzzles. The inscription "W. H. Shields from the Bursons" is lifted from the assembled puzzle and the characters forming it are mounted on a black base along-side the puzzle. It can be read both in and out of the puzzle. The same treatment has been accorded figures symbolizing Dr. Shields' activities and hobbies. One is a stethoscope and among the others are tennis players and a cello.

The competition in the American Legion sponsored Buy American poster contest has been in progress in junior high schools for several weeks. The American Legion post in the community where the participants are located are sponsoring first and second prizes and giving honorable mention to other fine contributions. In the Koppel public school Helen Zelesnak and William Meyer of the eighth grade were adjudged having submitted the best posters while the following received honorable mention: Lena Dello, seventh grade; William Matelich, eighth; Junior Powkes, seventh; Evelyn Coolick, seventh; and Dorothy De Sanzo, eighth. The two winning posters will be entered in the county contest in which the two best will be chosen. Appropriate awards have been given to winning contestants.

Supt. Green Discusses Home Economics Program In Senior High School

Along with the economies in private and governmental life that are being made in the adjustment period through which the country is passing, the schools are forced to the necessity of similar economies. There is a field for economy but those economies should be made wisely and with due thought to the general welfare of the student, according to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castle schools. In a statement today Dr. Green discusses the subject of vocational home economics in schools and the relationship of these subjects to the future life of the student. The statement follows:

Vocational Home Economics
Modern society does not question the right of women to an academic education equal to that provided for men, but the fact remains that most women find their vocation at home.

The question then arises as to the type of public education which best prepares young women for the high vocation of home making. Shall they struggle through courses in algebra, geometry, Latin, French, Spanish, etc., without any regard to their usefulness in adult life? Then are many girls and boys in our high schools who are not "academic minded". They are not necessarily dull, but their minds do not respond to efforts to give them what is commonly known as an academic education. A complete system of secondary education provides at least an introduction to vocational training for both boys and girls of this class.

Since it is inevitable that most of the girls of the class referred to above will not go to college but will become home makers within a few years after leaving high school, it appears to be obvious that the home making course is superior from every standpoint to an aimless and expensive experience with subjects in which they are not interested and which are of doubtful value aside from preparation for college. There is no uncertainty about the outcome of a vocational course in home economics for girls.

The vocational home economics course leads to high school graduation and includes much more than cooking and sewing. It must be distinguished from the home economics work given in the junior high schools. Well organized courses are offered in home nursing and care of the sick, household management, the care of infants, health and hygiene in the home, the family budget, art applied to the home, the chemistry of foods, etc. Students in this department are required to take the regular high school courses in English, history, and certain other so-called cultural subjects.

Possibly it is not extravagant to state that more than half of the girls in our high school would be employing their time to better advantage if they were enrolled in the home making department rather than where they are. As a department it should be encouraged rather than abandoned.

There is a great waste of public money in attempting to teach children subjects for which they do not have the talents and for which there is little hope of a practical outcome in life. When we say this we are perfectly willing to admit that there is a cultural value in almost any subject now offered in the high school curriculum if the subject is pursued in an efficient manner. However, there is no cultural value merely in "exposing a student to a subject". There is no cultural value in working merely for a credit, merely getting by. All of that sort of thing is a delusion and a snare, and it is a very expensive process both to the parent and the tax payer.

One of the principal causes of the increase in the cost of public education has been the increase in the number of high school students. That increase may be justified if practical courses are provided and encouraged. It cannot be justified alone on the basis of what is sometimes known as "high school life."

We hope that the time may come when provision shall be made for a reasonable type of vocational training for both boys and girls who enroll in our Senior high school in order that a suitable type of academic training may go hand in hand with a carefully selected type of vocational work. The mere playing with machines or subjects of knowledge does not educate people, and there is no use in deceiving ourselves. An educational experience may be interesting but it must be serious. It must not be mere entertainment.

Under the present order school people must try to teach foreign languages, advanced mathematics, etc., to many pupils who do not have the type of minds for such subjects. Parents are loath to accept the truth in such cases and we cannot blame them for that attitude. The only solution appears to be another kind of training. Pupils who may properly pursue vocational courses are not dull pupils, and pupils who do not respond to academic instruction are not necessarily dull pupils. Uninformed people sometimes advocate vocational education merely for dull pupils. Good machinists, electricians, cabinet makers, auto mechanics, etc., are not dull people. On the other hand, they may not have the type of mind which readily responds to instruction in what is commonly known as academic work.

Girls of all degrees of intelligence will be benefited by a course in home making. The present economic crisis has plainly demonstrated that there are too many women who cannot do the simplest kind of sewing in the home, and too many who do not know how to prepare inexpensive but wholesome meals. Motherhood in a civilized land is worthy of at least an elemental but specific training in the care of children. The American home needs more than an academic atmosphere. Laboratory experimentation in the home, with the family as subjects, is a dangerous procedure.

Steel Beams Will Rise After Bases Are Set; Job Progress Fine

By the latter week of April New Castle's new postoffice, plans for which call for one of the most imposing stone buildings in the district, should be "poking its nose into the air."

Chief Foreman Frank Engelbrecht, in describing the building progress today, meant by that time base plates will be entirely set and the first of the structural steel beams in place. From then on the building will go up, once four walls have been completed.

A force of workmen today was setting the base plates upon which the steel foundation beams will rest. The concrete footers are completed. Word was dispatched yesterday to the Pittsburgh Bridge & Iron Works at Rochester, Pa., to speed up the steel fabrication at once. Shipments will begin arriving shortly.

Since excavation work began after old buildings on the site were cleared, the construction project has made steady strides. Prevailing weather will permit workmen to hurry their work along.

LABORATORY TESTS CHECK EFFICACY OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Show Why This Delicious Cereal Overcomes Common Constipation

There are scientific reasons for the success of ALL-BRAN in preventing and relieving common constipation. Laboratory investigations show that it supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines; and vitamin B to promote appetite, and help tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements aid regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming!

Just eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mae West Says Plump Figures Good For Girls

"Women Look And Feel Better When Figures Are Well Rounded Out" Says Mae

By HARRISON CARROLL, International News Service Special Correspondent.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 11.—First shot in a revolt against the super slimmest decreed by fashion designers was fired here today by Mae West, generously proportioned star of the recent box-office sensation, "She Done Him Wrong".

"Women look better, feel better and are happier when their faces and figures are filled out," says Mae. The star says she is sorry for her fellow actresses who are flattening their rounded lines by extreme diets, massage and even bicycling.

Fewer Divorces. "Curves where the good Lord meant them to be, a slender waist-line and shapely limbs make the ideal figure," insists Mae. How about a slogan, she was asked. "Sure," said Mae. "I'll give you one. More pounds and fewer divorces; come on, girls, give the men something to stare at."

IMPORTANT
It may be cheaper for you to buy a new car now, than to continue running the old one.

For Comfort—your car has to be big enough so you can be comfortable in it

Pontiac—the Economy Straight Eight—has a wheelbase of 115 inches.

For Performance—you have to have a big, powerful engine

Pontiac's engine is a big 77-horsepower Straight Eight that gives you 78 real miles per hour—with all the inherent smoothness that only a Straight Eight can have or give.

For Economy—you have to have engine efficiency

Letters from people who have taken Pontiac's Economy Demonstration say that it gives 15 miles or more to the gallon of gasoline. That, plus the natural durability of a Straight Eight engine, gives you real operating economy. Come in for an Economy Demonstration.

For Appearance—well, just look at it and you'll see what Pontiac is Pontiac shows the effects of a new finesse in styling that is making it one of the most talked about cars of the year.

For Safety—you have to have scientifically designed and ruggedly built bodies and chassis

Pontiac's 4-door Sedan weighs 3265 pounds at the curb, and all closed cars have bodies by Fisher—and you know that means extra strength and safety. Fisher No Draft Ventilation is a special feature in all closed models.

Only if you have Pontiac's size and weight and engine in your car, can you expect to really get their benefits out of the car

Pontiac is a typical General Motors Value—an outstanding car in the low price field—and a good car to buy.

"Our purpose is to protect children from coming into contact with the sale of the beer," Rev. R. H. Martin of Pittsburgh member of the committee said.

Congressmen Bombarded With Letters And Telegrams About Legislation

LABOR COMMITTEE IN SECRET SESSION

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The battle over the five-day week, six-hour bill was fast developing into a legislative struggle of titanic proportions today as congress was bombarded with letters and telegrams for and against the legislation.

Manufacturers from every section of the country were pouring in protests to house members, while labor organizations were demanding approval of the measure.

The passage of the bill by the senate came as a shock to many opponents of the legislation, who refused to take the legislative battle seriously.

Action Is Delayed.

With only the administration restraining the house from immediate action, the situation has assumed a totally different aspect.

The house labor committee, confident the administration will approve the measure, today called Secretary of Labor Perkins into a secret session to discuss modification of the bill.

Miss Perkins, with Secretary of Commerce Rogers, was asked by President Roosevelt to look into the legislation while it was being held up by Democratic leaders in the house.

One member of the house, who represents a fairly large industrial district, said he had received 150 telegrams and letters of protest. Another said he had received over 200.

MIAMI, Fla., April 11.—The way of the white woman is not that of the Indian maiden, Rosalie Billie, sad-eyed 16-year-old Seminole belle, has sorrowfully learned.

For donning a one-piece swimming suit and frolicking with her white sisters in the cool waters of Miami river, Rosalie was sent alone into exile in the wilds of the big cypress swamp in the western Everglades.

Six months, the Indian maiden, prettiest daughter of the Seminole nation, lived in solitude on a small island in the glades, foraging for, preparing and cooking her own food, with water snakes, the brilliant plumed flamingo, the dreaded swamp panther and mosquitoes her only companions.

Today, Rosalie, crushed and broken by her experience, rarely stirs beyond the family cookfire. Delighted by the strange beauties of white women's dress and their freedom from male domination, Rosalie innocently forsook Indian custom for one daring moment. With two nieces of the Seminole camp director, she discarded her colorful, exotic tribal garb, donned a flimsy one-piece swimming suit and gaily joined a swimming party.

Tribesmen, spearing fish, drifted by in their dugout canoes and saw her.

An indignant father fetched Rosalie from the river, but tribal laws had been flouted. She was tried during the spring corn festival and a swift and stern Indian justice decreed her exile.

Pennsylvania Vets Lose Burial Fund

Is Eliminated Under Provision Of New Federal Act Effective In July

War veterans from Pennsylvania will lose the $107 burial fund, paid by the government heretofore, under the provisions of the new law enacted at the request of President Roosevelt.

The law states that where any state, insurance company, industrial concern, etc., maintains a burial fund, that the $107 paid by the government will not be paid.

Pennsylvania maintains a burial fund for veterans, paying out the sum of $50 through the county. In the past, the government and state have both paid this burial fund in Pennsylvania. The government will continue to furnish a flag for the casket as before.

Mr. Gallatin worked in some of the earlier industrial plants in New Castle.

Old Sweezy Spring Landmark Of Horse Days Finally Closed

The "Old Sweezy Spring" situated on the New Wilmington and West Middlesex road, which has been a landmark for nearly a century, has at last been abandoned, the pipe leading from the road to it having been dug up.

Years ago, in the horse age, there was a big watering trough by the roadside and it was a great place for farmers to stop to water their horses. Many a horse trade was made at this spot.

Of late years the spring has served motorists who came long distances with jugs for the sparkling water. Mrs. Hodges, who resides on the farm where the spring is located, says that she has been so rudely treated by some of the undesirables who have stopped for water, that she finally decided to close the spring.

Reforestation Army Growing

Plans for the start of actual work on President Roosevelt's reforestation program to provide work for the nation's jobless are being pushed rapidly ahead in many parts of the country as applications continue to pour in. In anticipation of a large influx of visitors from foreign countries to the World's Fair, many Chicago hotels have added linguists to their personnel to help the Windy City's foreign guests with their problems. Here is Dorothy McMicken, one of the many-tongued ladies, acting as interpreter for an early arrival from Germany. Note the arm bands she wears, stating the languages in which she is proficient.

AKRON'S SISTER SHIP, THE MACON, TAKES TO THE AIR

Despite the catastrophe which overtook the U. S. S. Akron, pride of the navy's dirigibles, and sent her to a watery grave in the Atlantic with 73 men, preparations continued at Akron, O., for the first trial flight of her sister ship, the U. S. S. Macon. Here is the ship's officer complement.

"The Old Order Changeth"

Silent testimony to the change of sentiment in Germany is offered by this sign, at which a Berlin policeman looks approvingly. During the days of the Republic, this street was called the "Platz der Republik" (Square of the Republic). Since Chancellor Adolf Hitler, with the aid of his Nazis and the Steel Helmets, a monarchist organization, assumed control of the country, the street has been re-named "Königsplatz" (King's Square).

World's Largest Blimp for U. S. Army

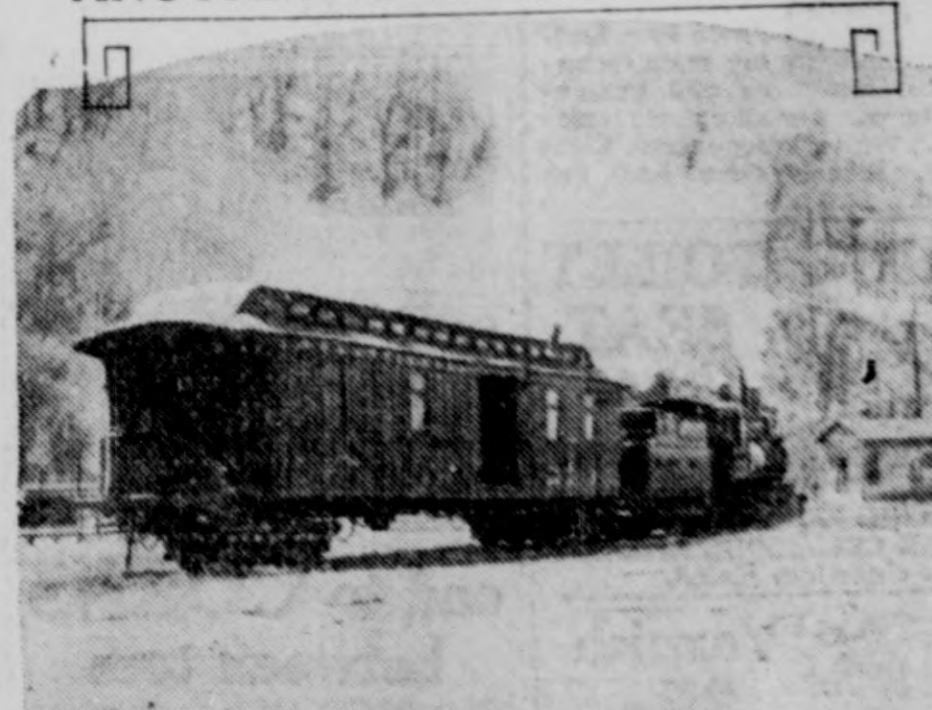

So accustomed are we to the terrific bulk of the U. S. dirigible Akron, and her new sister-ship, Macon, that when we are told that this new Army blimp is the largest non-rigid airship in the world, we raise our eyebrows in the traditional "on yeah?" manner, for the blimp compares with the big dirigibles like a gooseberry with a grapefruit. It was recently completed at Akron, Ohio, and is shown in its hangar held down by a weighted net. The blimp will be based at Langley Field, Va., following her test flights.

ANOTHER RAIL LINE IS DOOMED

Automobiles and trucks have doomed another of the few remaining narrow gauge railroads. The Waynesburg and Washington line, operating over a 28-mile stretch from Waynesburg to Washington, Pa., has made its last run. The daily round trip freight haul of a locomotive and one baggage car, shown making its final run, is being replaced by a tri-weekly gasoline coach. Passenger service on the line was discontinued a few years ago.

WILEY RELATES
TRAGIC STORY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 11.—Inquiry by a naval board into the disaster which befell the dirigible Akron with a loss of 73 lives centered again today on the story of an eyewitness, Lieut. Commander Herbert V. Wiley, one of the three survivors, who was scheduled to resume the witness stand for further interrogation.

Highlights of the testimony of Wiley, the only witness so far were: 1.—That an order was misunderstood by the helmsman when the Akron was trying to dodge the thunderstorm which had sprung up the night of April 3.

Wiley said Commander Frank C. McCord, the Akron's master, told him he ordered a 15 degree change in course to the left but that the helmsman misunderstood and swung left 50 degrees. This occurred about two hours after the ship left Lakehurst. The take-off was about 7:45 p. m.

2.—That an inexperienced man was at one of the elevator controls. It was from the elevator controls that the ship's altitude was determined when she was battling the elements prior to her sudden crash into the sea off Barnegat, N. J., early last Tuesday morning.

3.—That the Akron took off from Lakehurst when conditions were anything but favorable.

The weather map disclosed a low pressure area over Michigan and a windstrip extending south to Cincinnati. This area was moving northeast. Unsettled conditions prevailed from San Francisco to Nantucket, where poor visibility was expected. The temperature had dropped twenty degrees from two o'clock to 5:45 p. m. and Wiley therefore ordered 17,300 pounds of additional water ballast placed aboard the ship before it took off.

4.—That late that night when lightning was cracking he would have taken a different course than Commander McCord decided upon.

Wiley said he would have shifted to a westerly course, toward land, rather than easterly toward sea as decided upon by the master. It was purely a matter of opinion, he explained, and the commander had not asked his opinion. The master, he explained, was thoroughly competent. He thought McCord probably deemed it inadvisable to come in over land because it might be dangerous to fly over tall structures such as the Empire State building in New York City in view of conditions then prevailing. He was not criticizing anyone's judgment, he asserted.

5.—There was no panic. No confusion or any loss of discipline at any time during the ill-fated voyage.

Wiley praised Commander McCord highly.

'Senior Group' Termed Busiest
Of Many Classes In Athletic Division

When you say "senior class" at the Y. M. C. A. you speak of one of the biggest things that help keeps New Castle's unemployed youths busy.

Meeting each Monday and Friday for an hour and a half of rigid gymnasium workouts, an average of 40 young men were present for the 52 different classes that met.

Besides this group in the evening there is an informal afternoon group which meets every day, except Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday. The members come as they please on their own initiative and play the games they desire to. Between 20 to 50 men attend daily. Perhaps swimming draws interest as keen as the gym floor, while wrestling and boxing is offered for those whose inclination lean that way. Classes during the next year will expand in proportion to the success of the annual membership drive, opening April 18 and closing on the 21st.

This afternoon, the members of the group are making an effort to raise funds to meet the deficit of the institution, in a quiet canvass being made in the city.

Suit Over Klaffer
Property On Trial

The case of Gilbert E. Long, trustee in bankruptcy in the estate of Samuel Klaffer against Samuel Klaffer and Bertha S. Klaffer, his wife, was taken up for trial before Judge James A. Chambers this morning.

The case is one involving the transfer of real estate on North Jefferson street from Samuel Klaffer to Morris Storch, and then from Storch to Mrs. Klaffer. It is claimed that the transfer was made at a time when Klaffer was insolvent, and that the property should have been listed among the assets turned over to the referee in bankruptcy. This is denied by Klaffer and the suit is to determine whether or not this property should have been included.

Pittsburgh Men Go To Camp For Forestry Work

Pittsburgh's Entire Allotment Of 900 Men Will Be In Camp Monroe In Few Days

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Apr. 11.—Pittsburgh's second contingent of the army of reforestation was to leave here today for two weeks of conditioning at Portersburg, Monroe where a vanguard of 224 Pittsburgh youths already are at work. A six-car special train carried the first group to the conditioning camp last night. Another train, with at least 300 aboard, was to leave late this afternoon. The Pittsburgh quota of 90 men is expected to be completely recruited and on its way to camp by tomorrow night.

Vatican Cannot Countenance Nazi Action In Germany

Vice Chancellor Von Papen Will Be Granted Audience With Pope

(International News Service) ROME, April 11.—Vice Chancellor Von Papen, who arrived in Rome Sunday morning as a special emissary of the Hitler government, has been informed in his preliminary contacts with vatican officials that the Holy See cannot countenance discrimination by the Nazis against either Jews or Catholics in Germany. This was learned authoritatively by International News Service today. Von Papen came here ostensibly on a personal visit but is to remain a week, during which he will be received by Pope Pius and hold further conferences with Premier Mussolini. He has already called on Il Duce, offering Germany's support to the Italian premier's plan for four-power control of Europe to insure peace and paving the way for the forthcoming visit of Chancellor Hitler, who is also expected to be received by both the Pope and Mussolini.

Three Fishermen Stranded On Ice In Lake Superior

Coast Guards Trying To Rescue Three Men Drifting Helplessly On Ice Floe

(International News Service) SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Apr. 11.—Coast guardsmen today were attempting to rescue three fishermen who spent the night drifting helplessly on two separate ice floes in storm-swept Whitefish Bay, Lake Superior. The marooned men, Charles and Allie Baker and Harold Beach, were last seen five miles from shore, drifting northward into the open bay before a strong southeast wind. The three men were fishing with four others late yesterday off Iriquois Point when the ice broke. Four of the fishermen leaped across the gap to safety, but the Bakers and Beach were too late.

Court To Decide On Bank Account

Erie Bank Tangle Is Taken To Court At Pittsburgh For Ruling

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Apr. 11.—Whether a bank account in the names of a mother and her daughter becomes property of the heirs if the elder dies is the question which confronted the superior court here today. The appeal on which the question was raised was brought to the high court by Daniel J. Gallagher, administrator of the estate of Elizabeth Gallagher, from an opinion of the Erie County Orphans' court. Mrs. Martha Weiss, daughter of the deceased woman, and whose name was also on the signature card of the savings account, is the appellee. According to arguments, the account in the name of the dead woman was opened in the Bank of Erie Trust Company, December 30, 1929. Later the name of Mrs. Weiss was also placed on the account. The orphans' court ruled that the account became the property of the daughter and the appeal was taken from this decision.

DIVIDEND ACTION
HALTS INCREASE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 11.—The upturn in the stock market, which reached sweeping proportions yesterday, was halted today by heavy profit-taking and dividend casualties.

Stocks opened strong and active. Omission of the Nash Motors dividend brought a slump of more than 2 points in the stock. This was followed by General Foods cutting its $2 rate to $1.60 and halted the rise in the rest of the list and the market turned irregular.

A bulge in wheat on the bullish government crop report was ignored. Corn was heavy in the grain market. Other commodities were strong. Bonds were firm and bank stocks strong.

Rails suffered a setback on preliminary reports indicating a slight decline in freight traffic last week. Steel shares went to new highs on the move in the early dealings but subsided later. Oils were sluggish. Utilities were strong on failure of the New York Legislature to pass any regulation measures.

Mesol Says He Was
Stung By Partner
In Busy Bee Shop

Files Bill In Equity In Which He Asks Authority To Wind Up Business

Mike Mesol has filed a bill in equity at the county court house against Nicholas G. Chalkis in which he asks the right to settle up a business partnership without the interference of the defendant.

The case is somewhat unusual. Mesol owned a shoe repair shop in Ellwood City, known as the Busy Bee Repair Shop. In May, 1931, he decided to make a trip to Europe and left the business in charge of his friend, Chalkis.

Mesol was absent until May 20, 1932. On June 14, following his return he formed an oral partnership with Chalkis in which the latter agreed to put in $850 for new equipment, and to pay $1500 for a half interest. This was later reduced to $1000. The profits were to be equally divided.

In the fall of the same year the plaintiff began to grow suspicious, and claims to have found that while he was in Europe Chalkis had appropriated $500 to his own use that should have belonged to the business. Chalkis had also failed to render an accounting asked by plaintiff.

Chalkis paid in the $850 after the partnership was formed but it is alleged did not pay the $1000 agreed upon. In August, 1932 Mesol claims that Chalkis registered the business under fictitious names act, giving himself as the sole owner.

On April 5, 1933, Mesol says that he served a written notice on Chalkis that the partnership was at an end. Mesol believes that he has been unfairly treated and wants authority to wind up the business.

Judge Hildebrand granted a rule on Chalkis to file an answer within fifteen days, stating his side of the case. A hearing will then be held.

Indiana Farmers Duel To Death In Big Apple Orchard

World War Veteran Is Arrested For Murder As Aftermath Of Duel
Over Woman

Calmly Admits Killing Man
Who Had Illicit Love
Affair With Young
Wife

(International News Service)
LAGRO, Ind., April 11.—Standing
ten paces apart and with a brilliant
full moon as the only illumination,
two Wabash county farmers fought
a grim duel over a woman in an
apple orchard a mile and a half
east of here.

Walter Ridenour, 52, was shot in
the heart and fatally wounded.
Loren Miller, 37, a world war veteran, escaped his adversary's bullet
but his own sharp-shooting landed
him in jail on a charge of murder.

Sheriff Harve Shoemaker on
reaching the moon-bathed orchard
early Monday, found the smell of
gunpowder had driven away the romance-inspiring fragrance of near-
by blossoming fruit trees.

On the ground lay the rigid form
of Ridenour, father of two children,
who had been involved in an alleged
illicit love affair with his neighbor's
young wife.

Standing over the body, softly la-
menting, were two women—Mrs.
Miller, 35, wife of the man who slew
Ridenour, and her mother, Mrs. Emma Denton, 62.

Near the body lay a weather-
beaten board covered with several

shingles on which glistened drops of
blood. It was on this board concealed by the shingles, that Ridenour and Mrs. Miller, according to the story told the sheriff, had been
leaving fervent notes.

Admits Shooting.
Sheriff Shoemaker found Miller in
his home beyond the orchard.
Miller readily admitted the shooting, said he had trailed his wife,
watched her leave a note under the
shingles on the board in the orchard, had hidden nearby and stood
guard over the rendezvous until Ridenour had appeared to claim the message.

"When he came I stepped forward
and challenged him," Miller said.
"He shot at me with a revolver. I shot back. He missed. I hit."

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things
Around New Castle

You can tell it's spring on the East Side. East Washington St is torn up in sections from Cascade Park to Arlington the men of the Epworth church are sodding the lawn, and lawn rollers are seen in action. But the lawn rolling season isn't officially in, until Charley Miller endeavors to roll a young mountain he calls a terrace in front of his place.

And another sign of spring is condition of the macadam roads over the county. The others have been busy and on a day like Monday, you can pick up enough oil and pitch to cover the roof of a chicken coop.
The new road to Wilmington seems to be the best hunting if you're looking for the tarry souvenirs.

E. C. Waldman, the foreman in charge of the stone job at Neshannock Falls has a flood prevention plan he thinks would work if it were put into operation. His idea would be to dam up the creeks and small rivers in states like Pennsylvania.
The impounded water couldn't get down to the Mississippi Valley in quantities large enough to cause a flood and there you are.

In addition, the damming idea in the states which feed the Mississippi river would get a lot of work relief
building the dams, the impounded
water would be useful, and everybody would gain. He points to the Pymatung Dam an object lesson
in what can be done to prevent floods.

Each day sees from four to six cars of stone leaving the Falls now.
Every block has to be loaded by crane and to see the boulders
swinging three and four ton slabs
of stone through the air is a sight.

Lin Dilks the cross country runner is located at the Falls with the Bates and Rodgers people, after a stretch of duty at the dam with the same outfit. From New Castle to Neshannock Falls would be just a pleasant run for him every morning.

Probably the oldest automobile in point of active service, in western Pennsylvania is located right here in New Castle. Dr. E. C. Porter, the veterinarian has it, and by now it really rates a place in a museum.

Back in 1910 the doc bought the car, a shiny new contraption it was then, a mystery to most folks and the envy of the neighborhood. Not a big car as they go nowadays but a bang up equipage for 1910.

The car is still in service, and on the walls of his garage the doctor
has every license plate he ever bought for it. From 1910 on they are hung some of them done in the heavy enamel plates they made back in the early motor days, all of them in good shape.

In the 22 years he has owned the car Dr. Porter has kept a record of what it cost him for oil, gas, tires,
repairs, everything in fact but the loss of disposition back in the old days when he had to change tires.

D. 7, suffered a fractured skull, a fractured right leg, cuts and bruises.

a possible fracture of the foot and

Says Her Husband Lost 16 Pounds In 4 Weeks

"I have never found a medicine that
'peps' you up like Kruschen Salts and better still, leaves you 'pepped up.' I take it two or three times a week—not to reduce but merely to feel good and clean. My husband took it to reduce, he lost 16 pounds in 4 weeks." Mrs. E. A. Ferris, Washington, D. C. (December 29, 1932).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast
every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but
a trifle at New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's Drug Store or any drugstore
in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied
after the first jar.

Indiana Farmers Duel To Death In Big Apple Orchard

World War Veteran Is Ar-
rested For Murder As Aftermath Of Duel
Over Woman

Calmly Admits Killing Man
Who Had Illicit Love
Affair With Young
Wife

(International News Service)
LAGRO, Ind., April 11.—Standing
ten paces apart and with a brilliant
full moon as the only illumination,
two Wabash county farmers fought
a grim duel over a woman in an
apple orchard a mile and a half
east of here.

Walter Ridenour, 52, was shot in
the heart and fatally wounded.
Loren Miller, 37, a world war veteran, escaped his adversary's bullet
but his own sharp-shooting landed
him in jail on a charge of murder.

Sheriff Harve Shoemaker on
reaching the moon-bathed orchard
early Monday, found the smell of
gunpowder had driven away the romance-inspiring fragrance of near-
by blossoming fruit trees.

On the ground lay the rigid form
of Ridenour, father of two children,
who had been involved in an alleged
illicit love affair with his neighbor's
young wife.

Standing over the body, softly la-
menting, were two women—Mrs.
Miller, 35, wife of the man who slew
Ridenour, and her mother, Mrs. Emma Denton, 62.

Near the body lay a weather-
beaten board covered with several

shingles on which glistened drops of
blood. It was on this board concealed by the shingles, that Ride-
nour and Mrs. Miller, according to
the story told the sheriff, had been
leaving fervent notes.

Admits Shooting.
Sheriff Shoemaker found Miller in
his home beyond the orchard.
Miller readily admitted the shoot-
ing, said he had trailed his wife,
watched her leave a note under the
shingles on the board in the orchard, had hidden nearby and stood
guard over the rendezvous until Ridenour had appeared to claim the
message.

"When he came I stepped forward
and challenged him," Miller said.
"He shot at me with a revolver. I shot back. He missed. I hit."

The regular meeting of the Women's Benefit Association will be held on Tuesday evening under the direction of Mrs. Dora Cover, president.

Mrs. Chas. Mitchell and Mrs.
J. F. Myers spent the evening recently the guest of the former's daughter, Mrs. Fred Shields of New Bed
